Investment Process

Step 1 - Interest Rate Strategy & Credit Research

Interest Rate Strategy

- Qualitative and quantitative analysis of the macroeconomic environment aims to forecast trends and their impact on fixed income sectors.
- The Government Bond team is responsible for defining a single view on interest rates and implementing it through an optimal mix of our three main strategies: duration, yield curve and relative-value strategies.
- This analysis is a top-down, in-house research driven approach, based on three pillars: fundamentals, valuations and technicals
- The Portfolio managers and economists define the significance of the central case scenario, which is determined by quantitative inputs, as well as any potential risks to the scenario.

Credit Research

- Following an initial quantitative screening, which reduces the size of the investment universe, there is further bottom-up fundamental research to uncover securities with superior return expectations.
- Identified investment opportunities are then subject to a more rigorous analysis emphasising their key business and financial risks.
- As a result of the credit analysis process, each company is assigned an internal score and rating. The Global Credit meeting then discusses the generated investment ideas.

Step 2 - Asset Allocation & Risk Budgeting

- The Portfolio Manager has the flexibility to pursue an asset allocation, depending on the prevailing market conditions and the risk profile of the portfolio.
- Risk budgeting allows us to optimise the mix of portfolio strategies based on a quantitative assessment of their contribution to overall portfolio risk.

Step 3 - Portfolio Construction

- The Portfolio Manager retains overall responsibility for portfolio construction, and is supported by specialist teams that apply an individual investment process within their respective asset class.
